About the Workshop

So you've collected your CBM Reading data, and identified students with low scores. What do you do next?!? Through this workshop, participants will learn components of Curriculum Based Evaluation (CBE) for Reading, a systematic hypothesis-testing model for problem analysis. Big Ideas in reading instruction will be discussed. Specific strategies to uncover WHY a reading problem exists and how to use this information to select the most appropriate research based interventions will be presented. The presentation on February 2nd will focus on Reading Decoding evaluation and interventions. The presentation on February 3rd will focus on Reading Comprehension evaluation and interventions. Participants may attend one day or both days.

About the Speaker

Kerry Bollman, S.S.P., Academic Behaviors Consultant and Reading Center Director for St. Croix River Education District, earned her degree from Illinois State University. Ms. Bollman consults with general and special education staff in research-based and data-driven academic skills instruction. She assists in developing school wide Response to Intervention organizational frameworks and Problem Solving teams to address the needs of all students. She also currently coordinates the Minnesota Reading First professional development academy through SCRED. Areas of expertise include databased decision making and intervention design.
