*Old teachers never die;
they continue to live with class!*

Samuel Johnson: "If I were punished for every pun I shed, there would not be left a puny shed of my punnish head."

From Chuck's Website —

Sometimes in the press of everyday events, one must simply laugh. Whether by serendipity or purpose, a laugh exercises the body, relieves the mind, and adds spice to whatever task is at hand. There are many ways to find laughable thoughts, but my personal favorite — some would say my obsession — is

The PUN: The lowest form of humor, the highest form of intelligence. ...attributed to Bennett Cerf
